

"We live in media, as fish live in water."

"Computers are a necessary and enjoyable part of life like food and books."

(b. 1937)

- American pioneer of information technology, philosopher, and sociologist.
- He coined the terms hypertext and hypermedia in 1963
- Originated the terms transclusion, virtuality, and intertwingularity (in Literary Machines).